> HE NEVER BLAMED THE BOOZE He took a bottle up to bed,
> Drank whiskey hot each night,
> Drank cocktails in the morning,
> But never could get tight, He shivered in the evening, And always had the blues, But he never blamed the booze.

His joints were full of rheumatiz, His appetite was slack— He had pains between his shoulders, Chills ran down his back, He suffered with insomnia,
At night he couldn't snocze;
He said it was the climate,
But he never blamed the booze.

His constitution was run down-At least that's what he said; His legs were swelled each morning,
And he often had swelled head,
He tackled beer, wine, whiskey,
And if they didn't fuse,
He blamed it to dyspepsia—
But he never blamed the booze.

Alas! 'twas but a ruse,
He blamed it on everything—
But he never blamed the booze.

His liver needed scraping,
And his kidneys had the gout;
He swallowed lots of bitters,
Till at last he cleaned them out, His legs were swelled with dropsy, Till he had to cut his shoes; He blamed it to the doctors, But he never blamed the boozs.

Then he had the tremens, And tackled rats and snakes; First he had the fever, Then he had the shakes, At last he had a funeral, And the mourners had the blues, And the epitaph they carved for him was-"He never blamed the booze."
